Anthea Leggett
Brisbane North Institute of TAFE

Anthea Leggett is an educational designer with Brisbane North Institute of TAFE. Anthea holds a Master of Education (education technology major) and has an interest in researching and trialling emerging technologies and strategies to improve educational outcomes and learner engagement. Anthea has nearly ten years experience working in the university and TAFE sectors in educational multimedia. She has won awards for educational design work from the Australian Society for Computers in Learning in Tertiary Education (ASCILITE) and a citation from Griffith University. Recent projects include: educational design and project officer work on Technologies for Learning, the Vocational Graduate Certificate in Blended Learning, and the Australian Flexible Learning Framework’s ePortfolio RPL Support Systems trial.